Staying in one of the best wine lodges in the region, you will admire the city's Spanish colonial architecture and taste your way around several wineries savouring fine Malbec vintages, while eating at some great restaurants.

Your next stop will be Lima, the capital of Peru. Here we will introduce you to a world of gastronomy with a different twist. From private cooking classes with visits to local markets to dining on a pier over the sea and discovering fine ceviche... Peru will have you effortlessly enjoying every moment.

The next leap will take you to the heart of what was once the majestic Inca Empire in the Sacred Valley: a place overflowing with energy and the spirit of Latin America all set against the breath-taking backdrop of the Andean mountains.

You will then take a luxury train journey to Cusco, the original capital of the Inca Empire, where you will be able to admire fabulous Spanish colonial architecture, sample more fine Peruvian cuisine and have some time for shopping.
