Bogota, the vibrant capital of Colombia, offers a heady mix of old and new, trendy and traditional, stately and charming. You will visit the colonial centre and the stunning Gold Museum. From urban life to rural bliss: the Coffee Region's charming landscapes and colonial haciendas will entrance you. Visit a coffee plantation to find out how the world's finest coffees are produced, and discover a valley full of curious giant wax palm trees.

Cartagena is a treasure-trove of colonial history. Wander the quaint streets of the old city and enjoy cocktails on the ramparts of the city walls at sunset. You will also take a speed boat trip and have an afternoon on a delightful white sand beach with a surprise picnic.

Moving on to Panama you will stay in the Casco Viejo historic quarter, which is now blossoming into a trendy district. You will visit the new Museum of Biodiversity and the Amador Causeway and of course, the Panama Canal. After the city, the little mountain town of Boquete will bring a breath of fresh air offering hiking, hot springs and great food. Round off your trip with a couple of days of downtime on the beach of the pristine Isla Palenque – an amazing private island.
